IEF McDONALD WILL MEET WITH ALL PATROLMEN

New Head of Police Department
Calls Get-together Session
For Tomorrow.

WILL OUTLINE DUTIES

Officers Will be Told What Will Be Expected of Them; McDonald Has
New Method For Handling Affairs
Which Will Replace Shipboard Way.

Chief of Police Thomas McDonald has taken the first step toward promoting efficiency in the department. A meeting of the members of the police force will be held at the city hall tomorrow night. Chief McDonald has called the gathering in order to have a conference with his officers.

The new chief will outline to the officers just what their duties as policemen are. He will expect his instructions to be carried out to the letter.

A big fault with the police department in the past months is the loose way with which it has been run. There was no coordination among the members of the force nor between the officers and the chief. What went on at night was often never known to a day officer until it appeared in the newspapers. Day occurrences likewise were often unknown to the night police.

The shipboard manner does not suit Chief McDonald and today, his first act as the head of the law department of the city, he has completed plans for a new system. Through a police ledger he will have every officer report before he goes off duty. Notations will be made of out of town calls received or of telegrams which arrive at headquarters. It has been the case in more than one instance that when a telephone call concerning a criminal matter has been received at the police station, only one officer, the one who answered the phone, knew of it. Telegrams likewise lost track of their usefulness by going no further than the officer who would receive for it.

It is to get rid of this method of doing business that the new chief intends to have full reports made by each officer every morning.

AMERICA'S KILLED IN WORLD WAR 34,249; TOLL IN WOUNDED 224,089

Proportion of Killed and Wounded
About Same as in Civil War, but Less of Wounded Dies.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Final figures on army casualties in the World War are contained in the annual report of Surgeon General Ireland, made public last night, showing 34,249 killed and 224,089 wounded.

The proportion of killed to wounded is about the same as in the Civil War, although mortality from gunshot wounds in the World War was only 3.26 per cent as compared with 13.6 per cent in the Civil War. The report said this indicated that improved surgical and sanitary methods in the recent war had saved the lives of 5.34 per cent of all American soldiers wounded.

Of every 1,000 men sent to France, 110 were killed and 1,000 were wounded. Of the 1,110 men, 100 were killed and 1,000 were wounded. The report said that in the Civil War, of every 1,000 men sent to France, 110 were killed and 1,000 were wounded. Of the 1,110 men, 100 were killed and 1,000 were wounded.

Deaths from wounds totaled 13,591, or slightly more than six per cent, while 135,588 of the wounded, or 70.7 per cent, were returned to duty, the remainder being invalided home for treatment or discharge. Shell wounds were by far the most deadly, the report said, adding that no American soldier lost both arms and both legs in the World War or both legs or both arms and one other extremity. Eleven lost both legs at the thigh, one both legs at the knee, nine both legs below the knee, one both feet, three one arm above the elbow with one leg at the thigh.

More than 4,400 soldiers lost a part of one or more extremities, 66 lost the sight of both eyes, 44 lost the partial sight of both eyes and 844 lost one eye or the sight of one eye.

VAN FOERSTER FOUND GUILTY OF REALTY FRAUDS

Pittsburgher Worked Hard-earned Cash From Many Foreigners.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 1.—C. H. Van Foerster, real estate operator, was found guilty today of larceny by trick and artifice, growing out of the sale of lots in the Grace Park plan, Gloucester county, N. J., during the war.

Witnesses for the commonwealth, almost all of whom were foreigners, testified that they bought lots in the plan with the understanding that they should not want the property at any time they could go to any bank and get their money back by tendering the deed. They testified that Van Foerster told them the government intended to build large factories and mills around the property.

A real estate expert testified that the plan was five miles by foot and ferry from the Hog Island shipbuilding plant and that it was three miles to a trolley car or to a railroad station.

Van Foerster maintained a lavishly furnished office in Connellsville during the early part of his operations. He quit the place after the entry of America into the war.

WILSON'S OFFER AS MEDIATOR FOR ARMENIA ACCEPTED

League of Nations Assembly Greatly Elated Over
News.

FEELS LESS ABANDONED

By Associated Press.
GENEVA, Dec. 1.—A letter to President Wilson, accepting his offer to act as mediator in Armenia, was being drafted by the council of the League of Nations here today. Mr. Wilson's note, which was received here this morning, was read to members of the council at 10:30 o'clock and received with remarks of highest satisfaction.

It was announced this afternoon that Spain and Brazil had offered to join President Wilson in his role of mediator. The offer has been embodied in the reply to Mr. Wilson.

President Wilson's acceptance created a great impression when it was announced. "Poor old Europe will feel less abandoned," was a remark made by a member of the French delegation while discussing the matter.

The news gave the assembly great relief. In connection with President Wilson's offer to mediate in the dispute between the Armenians and the Turks, the assembly was informed that the British delegation, headed by Lord Curzon, had agreed to accept the offer.

MARKLETON HOSPITAL NOT WELL SITUATED AND WILL BE CLOSED

"The hospital at Markleton, Pa., is unfortunately situated and we hope it can be entirely abandoned soon. Anyway, we do not force ex-service patients to go there if they object," said a dispatch from George H. Manning, Washington, to the Connellsville Herald.

This was the response of Surgeon General Hugh S. Cummings, of the Public Health Service, to the charges made by Colonel T. W. Galbraith, national commander of the American Legion, that the hospital at Markleton "is a disgrace to the nation and unfit for a dog to live in."

The government hospital at Markleton was taken over from the American Legion by the Public Health Service in 1918. It was then a small building and was not well situated.

Surgeon General Cummings took issue with Colonel Galbraith's statement that "10,000 disabled men are quartered in cellars, poorhouses and insanitary asylums." He pointed out that 21,000 former service men are now government charges and that of these 11,000 are in government hospitals and 10,000 are in private institutions by contract with the government.

"Some of the private institutions are good and some are bad," said Dr. Cummings. "For instance, we have men in St. Agnes' hospital in Philadelphia, one of the finest institutions in the country. Generally speaking, the mental cases are in most urgent need of better facilities, for there are few hospitals equipped properly to care for such patients."

COMMANDANT AT WILLIAMSON, W. VA. ORDERS CLEANUP

First Step Desired is Abatement of Immoral Conditions in City.

MAYOR IS IN HOSPITAL

Commissioners Have Been Unable to Agree on Selection of Executive to Serve Pro Tem; Police Declared
Powerless to Preserve Order There.

By Associated Press.
WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Dec. 1.—Colonel Herman Hall, commanding the provisional battalion of troops called here for duty in the Allegheny county strike zone, today served notice on the city authorities in Williamson that alleged immoral conditions in the city must be abated and the streets cleaned. Failure to comply with this request, Colonel Hall said, would result in the military taking the work in hand.

O. W. Porter, mayor of Williamson, was sent to the Cincinnati hospital last Sunday seriously ill. The city commissioners have endeavored to elect a mayor pro tem but so far have been unable to reach a decision. They will meet again tonight in an effort to solve the problem.

Meaning the police force is almost powerless to act. However, in an effort to clean-up the town, the police last night arrested seven women. Five were released under bond and two were held for further interrogation, one of them being charged with grand larceny in connection with the alleged theft of $1,400 from a soldier. Colonel Hall's action brings home direct to the civil authorities what may be expected under military occupation they said.

Quiet was reported from the military posts in the county today, although the news reached headquarters that nearly a score of men appeared on the Kentucky side of the river, opposite Matewan, last yesterday. Soldiers of the detachment stationed there were at once deployed to meet an attack but after looking them over the men retreated into the hills without firing a shot. Later, the report said, shooting was heard but officers took the view that it was nothing more than a demonstration.

Another report reached the military that Deputy Sheriff William Frances, who was shot yesterday, while trying to arrest a man on a misdemeanor charge, died during the night in the hospital at Welch. Everett Dorson, another deputy shot in the same fight, was reported to have been hit in the eye by a bullet which lodged near the brain. Several persons arrested in the house from which the shots were fired were being held at Freeburn, W. Va.

The gathering was led in prayer by Rev. J. H. Edwards, pastor of the First Baptist church. Miss Lorton Stableman sang several numbers and Miss Elizabeth Rupp gave readings.

One of the most interesting of the many recent weddings is that of Miss Anne Smith, daughter of Thomas J. Smith of South Ninth street, Grearwood, and John William Errett, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Errett of East Connelleville. The ceremony was quietly solemnized today at noon in Trinity Episcopal church, Pittsburgh, by Rev. Milton S. Kanaga, archdeacon of the Pittsburgh diocese of the Episcopal church, and a former rector of the Trinity Episcopal church of this place. Too Weak to Do Anything

The ordinary every-day life of most women is a ceaseless treadmill of work. How much harder the tasks become when some derangement peculiar to her sex makes every movement painful, and keeps the nervous system all unstrung until life seems hardly worth living. Every woman in this condition should profit by the experience of these two women whose letters follow.

Read the Experience of These Two Women

Reading, Pa.—"I had organic inflammation, pains in the side and back which were so sharp that they pulled me to my knees, and I could not walk. I had an operation and still failed, and in the eight years I suffered I had four doctors and none helped me. My mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was then in bed, and after the first bottle I could get out of bed, then I took Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and also used the Sanative Wash. I still take the medicine and am now able to do my own housework. My husband says, 'My! but you look well—what do you do?' Who is your doctor?' And there is only one answer, 'Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines which I gladly recommend.'—Mrs. Wm. Szyn, 600 Douglas Street, Reading, Pa.

Gainesville, Tex.—"For three years I suffered untold agony each month with pains in my side. I found only temporary relief in doctor's medicine or anything else I took until my husband and I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I mentioned it to a neighbor and she told me she had taken it with good results, and advised me to try it. I was then in bed part of the time, and my doctor said I would have to be operated on, but we decided to try the Vegetable Compound, and I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a dressmaker and am now able to go about my work, and do my housework besides. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial as I am always glad to speak a word for your medicine."—Mrs. W. M. Stephens, 202 Harvey St., Gainesville, Texas.

STRONG MEN SOMETIMES TIRE EASILY

But Refuse to Believe That They Are Tired Out—Run Down.

EVEN ATHLETES NEED TONIC

This Husky Chap Admits It, and Takes a Year's Trial of Pepto-Mangan, Red Blood Builder.

He is tall (almost six feet), weighs 185, plays golf, works his own garden, and is stronger than most men. He is the picture of health, looks as vigorous as a football player.

But he is a bit anemic, gets tired too easily, is inclined to constipation, is more nervous than a normal man should be, and is subject to disfiguring pimples.

He told all this himself, and added, "Whenever I have the sense or the memory to take two or three bottles of Gude's Pepto-Mangan in the late fall and early spring, I am as right as a trivet. The trouble is, I forget. If I hired a doctor only to remind me to take Pepto-Mangan twice a year, it would be worth hundreds of dollars to me."

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is an absolutely dependable red-blood builder in all conditions of lowered vitality not due to serious disease of the vital organs. It improves the appetite, imparts color to the cheeks, and creates new hope and ambition in those who have become pale, weak, and listless. Physicians recommend Gude's Pepto-Mangan. When you order, be sure the word "Gude's" is on the package. Without "Gude's" it is not Pepto-Mangan. Furnished in both liquid and tablet form. For sale by all druggists.—Adv.

A Happy Family

Everett, Pa.—"The length of time that we have used Dr. Pierce's medicine I believe will testify to the fact that they gave entire satisfaction. I think I am safe in saying that we have used Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for 35 years and have found them superior to all other medicines as a stomach remedy. We always found them mild in their operation but very effective. I have also used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery off and on for 25 years. That I am living today I attribute to the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' My daughters as well as my sons have also made liberal use of it with great benefit to themselves."

MICKEY FORKINS, DUNBAR PRODUCT, WILL HAVE MANY BOOSTERS AT FIGHT HERE

Scraps With Charlie Dunn at Slavish Hall Saturday Night
Attracts Attention.

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETICS

Mickey Forkins!
This lad, a former Dunbar product, with whom Charlie Dunn, the knockout marvel, anticipates to fight his way record at Slavish hall Saturday night, is from the camp of Jimmy Dime, whence comes word that it "can't be did!" Forkins is blossoming forth again, a real contender for Jack Britton's crown. It is doubtful if Jimmy Dime has ever handled such a splendid welterweight. He is a boxer with a punch.

Mickey Forkins.

An Erie, Pa., sport writer describes Forkins as follows: "Forkins is a typical fighter. He is built for speed and yet his shoulders are like those of a middleweight. He is as fast as a banian, which is shouting a great deal. He stands up and slugs with the chip boys and is not averse to swapping punches with the heaviest of Dime's stable."

"Those who have witnessed Jack Dempsey in action describe Mickey as a pocket edition of the greatest pugilist of the day. He executes left hooks with lightning rapidity and is as nimble as a cat on his toes." Mickey is good. Only 19 years of age and fighting only two years, he has waded through the best boys throughout Ohio and other nearby fight places. In his most notable battle with Billy Ryan, conceded to be the best welterweight in the middle west, Forkins decisively defeated the Cincinnati, which is some feat in view of the fact that Ryan has fought Jack Britton twice and held him even.

"Plus a punch." A small sentence, but with a world of meaning to a fighter's manager, the punch.

A big delegation of friends of Forkins of Youngstown and Warren, O., fame, not to mention Dunbar, Leonard, Mount Braddock and the Leislerings, will be on hand to urge Mickey to win.

The demands for seat reservation is more than usual. Those who desire choice seats may get them from Tony Rendine, of the Liberty Recreation Parlors; Sheila Hauser, at the Manhattan Bowling alley, and John Wharton at Dunbar.

The preliminaries are above the average, the first bout will feature "Dime" McMahon of Trotter and John Foltick of Dawson. The semi-final will bring together Young Blazer, of Pittsburgh and Mike Moran of Mount Washington.

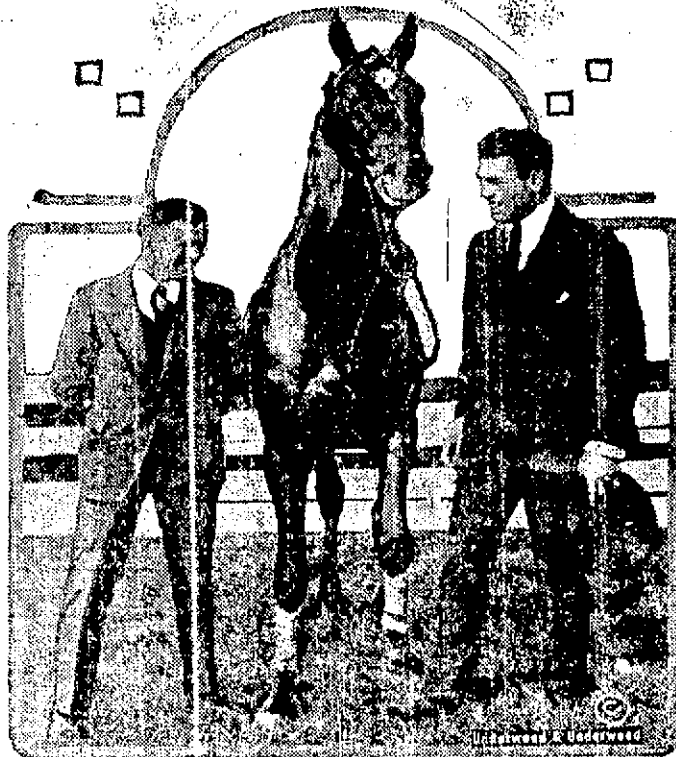

C. H. S. GIRLS PREPARE FOR BASKETBALL SEASON

Connellsville high school girls were given the gymnasium yesterday to allow them to prepare for the basketball season. The girls last year had an aggregation which was hard to beat but a number of new players will have to be developed to fill the responsible positions this season.

Miss Anne Mellon, the girls' physical instructor, is again the coach. The girls are taking added interest in the game each year. A schedule of games is being drawn up for the female players.

There will be a pretty three-cornered struggle for honors in the section of the W. P. L. A. league where the Cokers have a berth. The coaches at

CHAMPIONS IN DIFFERENT SPORTS

Here are three champions, absolute monarchs in three different branches of sport, snapped by a photographer at the Rose Three Hunt club's race at Media, Pa. Man o' War, Samuel D. Riddle's peerless thoroughbred of the turf, shared the honors with Jack Kelly, rowing champion in singles and doubles, on the left, and Jack Dempsey, heavyweight boxing title holder, on the right.

Braddock and Norwin are both classmates of Coach J. Paul Rupp of the high school, and each is determined the team shall triumph over both the others.

Fifth Avenue High of Pittsburg and Washington High will play at the Duquesne University campus on Saturday to determine the scholastic championship of Western Pennsylvania.

An $11,000 payroll of Igoo Brothers, Brooklyn, wire and mail manufacturers, was stolen in a holdup in front of the factory late yesterday.

Wreck on S. & C.

SOMERSET, Dec. 1.—Passenger traffic over the Somerset & Cambria branch of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad was paralyzed yesterday afternoon and last night because of a wreck of five freight cars at Rodgers' mine, just east of the Houserville station. Double strength where wear is hardest
—that's why miners pick the "U.S." Bootee

HERE'S a rubber shoe built specially for miners.

Five layers of tough, springy rubber in the thick double sole! Ten heavy layers of rubber and fabric back of the heel and ankle! Five at the toe! Six in front where the shoe bends with every step!

Absolutely watertight and built for rough service, the U. S. Bootee will give you a new idea of what a miner's workshoe ought to be. It's a big, tough, rugged shoe that'll stand the hardest sort of wear and yet give solid comfort all day long.

U. S. Bootees come in two styles—high and low. Ask your dealer to show you a pair.

Be sure to look for the U. S. Seal—it means solid wear and long service for your money.

"U. S." Bootee-made in all sizes and styles: white, red and black. Reinforced where the wear is hardest.

ENGLISH OAK MOST DURABLE

Specimens of it Have Been Known to Survive in Good Preservation for Centuries.

The durability of English oak is the greatest of any known forest timber, discoveries having been made that it is preserved almost as well under water through centuries as it is when shielded by roofs in ancient castles. Professor Burnett of London possessed a piece of English oak from King John's palace at Elyham, perfectly sound and strong, which can be traced back for more than five hundred years. The oaken shrine of Edward the Confessor is more than eight hundred years old. One of the oaken coronation chairs in Westminster Abbey has been there for more than five centuries.

In Gloucester cathedral there are thirty-one stalls of rich tabernacle work executed in oak in the reign of Edward III, and beautifully perfect. When the foundations of the old Savoy palace in London, built 700 years previously, were torn down, the piles, many of which were of oak, were found in state of perfect soundness. A vessel, found to the river Rother, in Kent, said to date back to the time of King Alfred, was found to be sound despite the fact that its oaken keel had been buried in the mud. An oak boat was found near Brigg in an almost perfect condition, despite the fact it was nearly two hundred years old.—Detroit News.

RHEUMATISM

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Find It.

In the Spring of 1892 I was attacked by rheumatism and inflammatory rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number of who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with rheumatism, some of them 10 to 20 years old, and results were the same as in my own case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-sought-for means of getting rid of your rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

Special to The Courier.
MOUNT PLEASANT, Dec. 1.—Local years old, of Spruce street who has day morning. The Melillo girl attended school, being in the sixth grade, and worked at the Demander restaurant in the morning and a short time in the evening. She was well known at home and school by all her schoolmates. It was said, for a girl of 14 Rosy was good looking, with dark eyes and hair.

Monday morning there being no school Rosy left home to go to Demander's to work. Mrs. Demander said she drew $1 or $1.25, she had forgotten which, and left. She wore a brown coat trimmed in dark fur, and a blue blouse. She was in her working clothes. All of her good clothing hanging at home.

Mrs. Demander stated that when she came to the restaurant she had with her a bundle and this has led the officers to believe that she was lured away and possibly had better clothes in the bundle.

be welcomed by the officers.

to hoe corn and work on the farm right along with him and when he would give her any money he would tell her that she would have to pay it back. It was testified that he had served a term in the penitentiary for drunk he was dangerous. He is re-

The Dark Mirror

BY
LOUIS JOSEPH VASCI
Author of "The False Faces,"
"The Lone Wolf," etc.
Illustrated by Irwin Meyer
(Copyright 1920 by the Author)

She glanced furtively at the dark mirror without finding any thing more suitable for her flight than the dress she had on. Apparently Leonora had found time to do but little for herself. She had not needed many things to wear so far from civilization. Leonora had found time to wait till the return to town.

In the end Leonora selected a long, motoring coat of darkish stuff rather heavy but not too heavy for night in the hills. She found it not uncomfortable but when she sat down to wait beside one of the windows.

She had examined the candles which seemed to be the only means of illumination in the bungalow but the room was blacker far than the night that glimmered beyond the trees. A few stars were visible not many only enough to make the darkness more oppressive. In the beginning Leonora could distinguish nothing but the stars. After some time she was able to make out the profile of the surrounding forest, dense against the sky. It was hours before she could see more.

She sat quite still in the darkness of melancholy loneliness in the company of her thoughts.

Once Leonora came to the door and tapped softly calling on Leonora by her name.

Leonora made no sound. He was soon disheartened and did not repeat the venture.

Shortly after one o'clock Leonora went to her room and for several minutes candlelight shone at the bottom of the communicating door like the misty rim of a golden coin. When it went out she heard him close the door to his living room. Whether he had returned to the latter or had gone to rest she could not guess. Though she touched the door first at the door, then at the other, till her limbs were cramped, she heard no more sound beyond either.

The night grew bitterly cold. Discomfort as much as impatience at length overcame Leonora and cautiously opening the living room door she found Mario seated in a comfortable chair.

IV. FLIGHT
He had placed the chair within a yard of the door. As he sat he saw with legs extended, arms crossed, and almost on a threshold. She could hardly pass without stepping over him. He made no effort to move. Indeed he did not stir a finger. His hands were clasped before him, his head bowed, and his eyes closed. Leonora's face was washed in deep shadow the deeper for the fire of a little behind him, across the room whose dying glow furnished the only light.

It was a long minute before his measured breathing revived her courage. She sidled out noiselessly, in her socked feet, watching him suspiciously. But the sleep that follows an emotional crisis always profound lulled the precautions he had taken to prevent precisely what was happening.

At the edge of the veranda she hesitated long enough to take her slippers from the pockets of the motoring wrap and put them on. Then she stepped down to the soft turf and sped swiftly toward the bungalow to the garage.

Its doors were open—as she always knew for a view of the garage was commanded by the side window of Leonora's boudoir. Cold moonlight slanting in picked out the blind lines of the car and the bright work of horn and windshield.

With a thumping heart she slipped into the driver's seat and grasped the lighting and ignition controls of the dash. The luck seemed to be with her now. The switchboard had not been locked.

Her foot depressed the starting pedal, and in the great hush the will of the motor responded. It was a long toll, brudding the Titan of Doom. Simultaneously hissing the gas in first speed. Leonora let the clutch in somewhat too suddenly. The car jumped like a startled animal and leaped out of the garage. She heard or thought she heard a shout from within the bungalow and in her haste brushed the shift to second speed so that the gears ground and screeched furiously. Nevertheless, the car moved down to the road at a sufficient pace.

In passing she saw out of the corner of her eye Mario run out to the veranda pause then dash madly toward the car. She bore heavily on the accelerator and made the third shift smoothly enough an instant later finding into the road on her own terms. The car told her that Mario had failed to overtake her.

I am a mother of a number of children and I am sure that I am not alone in my opinion. The iron tonic is a most valuable remedy for the child who is pale, thin, and who has lost the ability of a skilled hand. The child who is pale, thin, and who has lost the ability of a skilled hand. The child who is pale, thin, and who has lost the ability of a skilled hand.

After a time the road forked and Leonora turned to the right. The road was not a straight line but a series of curves. The road was not a straight line but a series of curves. The road was not a straight line but a series of curves.

When she had strained the motor for a few more minutes without encouragement she gave up the hopeless struggle and fell into her wretched hands. The unhappy alternative was left to remain in the car or to pick her way back through the pitch dark forest.

It was a long minute before his measured breathing revived her courage. She sidled out noiselessly, in her socked feet, watching him suspiciously. But the sleep that follows an emotional crisis always profound lulled the precautions he had taken to prevent precisely what was happening.

With a thumping heart she slipped into the driver's seat and grasped the lighting and ignition controls of the dash. The luck seemed to be with her now. The switchboard had not been locked.

Her foot depressed the starting pedal, and in the great hush the will of the motor responded. It was a long toll, brudding the Titan of Doom. Simultaneously hissing the gas in first speed. Leonora let the clutch in somewhat too suddenly. The car jumped like a startled animal and leaped out of the garage. She heard or thought she heard a shout from within the bungalow and in her haste brushed the shift to second speed so that the gears ground and screeched furiously. Nevertheless, the car moved down to the road at a sufficient pace.

In passing she saw out of the corner of her eye Mario run out to the veranda pause then dash madly toward the car. She bore heavily on the accelerator and made the third shift smoothly enough an instant later finding into the road on her own terms. The car told her that Mario had failed to overtake her.

Within two minutes she was off the floor, thrashing wildly through the air, and with the choked words, "helpless," she fell.
